

The Greyhound Sanctuary Forum

If you are a new user to the forum, then click on the “Apply for membership” link. You will receive an email, usually within 24hrs, with your acceptance details and then you will be able to enter your chosen username and password to gain access to the forum.

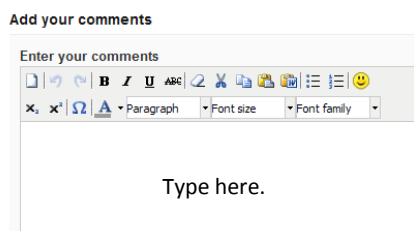

The initial page will look something like this. This is the Discussions page. To see the discussions, click on one of the titles – in this example there are two topics - Greyhounds or Emma Milne in Dogs Today. A new page will open where you may read the conversations. In this example, Greyhounds has been selected.

Janet has started a conversation and it can be seen by all members of the forum.

If you want to post a reply to this message, then look further down the web page to the editor. This is very similar to a simple word processor.

Type your message in the box within the editor; then finally click on the “Add your comments” link at the bottom of the web page. The post is complete.

Discussions may fall into different categories. By default the first page is a General category, usually for “chit-chat”.

Click on the Categories link in the black title bar. Here it is possible to see additional, more specific topics, that you may wish to participate in. The process of entering information is just the same as for the general category.

If you want to talk about something else but still within the category, select “Start a new discussion”. This may be found at the top right of the forums web page.

Select the Account link – here you may modify certain personal preferences within the forum.

Account Options

- ▶ Personal Information
- ▶ Change Password
- ▶ Forum Preferences

If possible, enter your full name in the Personal Information entry. This section is often missed when applying to join the forum.

Within the Forum preferences, you may select to be anonymous by hiding your username and this will certainly work for all normal members of the forum, however, note that the administrator has the power to see everything.

This forum is intended to be “self-regulating”, where everybody can have a say in promoting all aspects of the aims and objectives of The Greyhound Sanctuary charity.

Have fun and enjoy the forum. Nobody will tell you off if you make a mistake, and you cannot break anything! The more members of The Greyhound Sanctuary that use the forum, the more successful it will be.
